Our Mission is Simple ...

Joe's Slinger Service is in business to provide honest, quality automotive repair to all makes and models that are valuable to our customers. We strive to have your repairs done right the first time and on time!

Joe's ... where customer satisfaction is our business!

Hi everyone!

Summer flew by just like it always does and has our kids back in school and the Fall season just around the corner. You know the team at Joe's works hard to provide you honest answers to your vehicle repair needs. Don't take our word for it. Here's some of the most recent reviews we are proud to share with you.

Joe

"Friendly Professional Service" - As a woman, I was treated respectfully and understood everything they explained that needed repairs. Great place!

Katie said, "Joe's Slinger Service called to tell me much it was going to cost before they did the work. They took me in on a holiday weekend and the service was cheaper than what was quoted."

Angie - "This business was responsive, and communicative. They did good work and I am very satisfied."

Bruce said his son broke down close to Joe's. He had the vehicle towed there and they fixed it within 2 days. They took good care of him.

"They are the only shop I would ever go to again. Have been a customer since moving to the area. They are honest and the work they do is top notch. They are the only shop I would ever recommend."

Top 5 Lines to Irritate your Mechanic AND our Replies.

#5. But I only came in for an oil change!

Our shop has a mandatory inspection and review with the customer with every service. Included in the review is a list of items that get changed at regular intervals according to the year/make/model. The list has your standard belts, fluids, filters, and recommended inspections (brake inspection, tire inspection, check for leaks, soft hoses, torn wipers, etc.). The list is there for them to review, ask us questions, get a quote, take care of what they want done right then, whatever they want. We are here to keep your vehicle running smoothly, not just ignoring the obvious until you encounter a break down. That is why we call it preventative maintenance.

#4. "You're just adding that on to make more money"

You came in for an oil change and the tech pointed out to you that your wiper blade on the passenger side was torn, your engine air filter had not been changed in 22,000 miles, and it has been over 10,000 miles since your last tire rotation and asks you if you want to take care of any of those items now while we have the car in the shop. You say "You're just adding that on to make more money!"

What is the alternative? Buy a set of tires 25% sooner because you didn't rotate them and we were too afraid to tell you it was time because you'd jump down our throat? Spend a little money now, or spend a lot of money later, it's your choice. Third, if you are trading the car in next week and not interested in preventive maintenance, listen to the wise words of Nancy Reagan and Just Say No.

#3. "What do you mean that alternator will cost me $400? I only have $200!"

Modern cars are quickly approaching a time when they will actually be sentient beings. They heat or cool the air according to your desires, remember what position you like your seat and mirrors, and will warm up your butt for you when it's really cold outside. However, it will be quite some time before we can expect the cars to have a direct link to your bank account and understand how much money you want to spend on your car today, and only decide to break something of itself that will cost less than you want to spend.

Until we see that day, it is completely useless to expect the amount of money you have to hold any meaning for your car when it decides that it no longer wants to maintain a charging system capable of functioning any longer. The reality of your situation being what it is, a more useful phrase may be "Is there an alternative that would cost under $200?" in which case, a service writer could check into a rebuilt part, salvage part, etc.

Chocolate Zucchini Bread

Ingredients:

- 1 cup all purpose flour
- 1/2 cup cocoa
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon sea salt
- 2 large eggs
- 1/4 cup unsalted butter, melted & slightly cooled
- 1/4 cup canola, vegetable oil, or melted coconut oil
- 3/4 cup packed light brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
- 1 1/2 cups packed shredded zucchini
- 1 cup semisweet chocolate chips, divided

Directions:

1. Preheat your oven to 350°F. Grease a 9 by 5 inch loaf pan with nonstick cooking spray and set aside.
2. In a medium bowl, whisk together the flour, cocoa powder, baking soda, and sea salt. Set aside.

3. In a large bowl, add the eggs, melted butter, oil, vanilla extract, and brown sugar. Stir until smooth. You might have a few small brown sugar lumps and that is fine.

4. Stir the dry ingredients into the wet ingredients, don't over mix. Stir in the shredded zucchini until just combined. Stir in 3/4 cup chocolate chips.

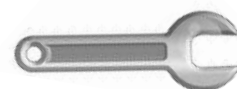

5. Pour batter into prepared pan. Sprinkle the remaining chocolate chips over the top of the bread. Bake for 50-60 minutes, or until a toothpick inserted into the center of the bread comes out clean. You might have some melted chocolate chips on the toothpick and that is fine. You just don't want a lot of gooey batter.

6. Remove the pan from the oven and set on a wire cooling rack. Let the bread cool in the pan for 15 minutes. Run a knife around the edges of the bread and carefully remove from the pan. Let the bread cool on the wire cooling rack until slightly warm. Cut into slices and serve.

Note: If you use coconut oil, make sure it is melted and slightly cooled. The bread will keep on the counter, wrapped in plastic wrap, for up to 4 days. This bread also freezes well. To freeze, cool the bread completely and wrap in plastic wrap and aluminum foil. Freeze for up to 1 month. Defrost before slicing.
